Message from the Chief Patron

P Mujeeburahman
Chief Patron,
IRW Ideal Relief Wing

I am proud to present the Disaster Management Training Centre, a pioneering initiative by IRW – Ideal Relief wing, first of this kind in our state by an NGO. With over 30 years of experience, IRW is committed to strengthening disaster preparedness through advanced training, realistic simulations, and innovative technology. This Centre empowers responders, government agencies, NGOs and communities to act swiftly and effectively during natural and man-made disasters. Together, we strive to build a safer, more resilient future.

Preface

Disasters – both natural and man-made – are becoming more frequent and complex, challenging our ability to respond effectively and protect lives, infrastructure, and communities. In response to this growing need, the first-of-its-kind Disaster Management Training Centre in the private sector in the state is being launched by IRW – Ideal Relief Wing, a registered NGO with over 30 years of experience in disaster management services across India.

IRW brings a strong legacy of action, supported by 700+ trained volunteers and resource persons, who are experts in various disaster fields. The Centre is designed as a world-class training hub, integrating realistic simulation environments, advanced technology, and expert-led programs to prepare first responders, government agencies, NGOs, and community leaders for real-life multi-hazard emergencies.

Participants will gain hands-on experience in managing disasters such as earthquakes, floods, industrial accidents, fires, chemical incidents, and more. The Centre also serves as a research and innovation platform, developing advanced tools and strategies for disaster risk reduction, early warning, and community resilience.

With a strong focus on practical learning, immersive simulations, and technology-driven innovation, this initiative by IRW aims to empower responders and strengthen preparedness across the state and beyond.
